U.S. Bombs Hit Berlin

Fear American Air Blitz

Raps "Defeatism" as Bombs Looked at Being Evacuated

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(BUP)—The Japanese reported today that they were stripping Tokyo's 7,000,000 population down to essential defence personnel in expectation of an American air blitz, foreshadowed this evening by a Superfortress bombing which set fires in the city.

Fight Continues

Decisive Battle Near at Athens

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Guthrie Jansen of NBC, broadcasting from Athens today, said a decisive battle appeared to be in the making and "I don't know how long I can go on sending you these broadcasts—communications may be cut at any time."

ATHENS, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Left-wing ELAS forces sent shells crashing into Athens and continued their all-out attempt to break into the centre of the city today.

Eden Reveals:

Greece, Crete Fighting Cost 40,000 Britons

LONDON, Dec. 12.—(CP)—Foreign Secretary Eden said today in the House of Commons that British forces had suffered 40,000 casualties and had lost nearly 500 aircraft in fighting to free Greece and Crete since the beginning of the war.

Most of the casualties—killed, wounded, prisoners and those missing—were suffered in 1941 when Britain launched an unsuccessful expedition into Greece and was forced to evacuate Crete.

In addition, Mr. Eden said the Royal Navy had suffered heavily—losing five cruisers, 13 destroyers, three submarines, one ship and 47 minor vessels.

ALL ALONE THEN

Three battleships were badly damaged, he said, along with one escort carrier, 10 destroyers, one corvette, three submarines and a number of smaller ships.

"It must be remembered that in those days we were all alone against a victorious Germany, Italy and in dire peril," Mr. Eden said.

One member suggested the British Commonwealth of Nations had taken by far the greater part in the liberation of Greece. "I don't think there has ever been any question of that anywhere," replied Mr. Eden.

He pointed out that the Allies had no detailed figures at present. "I understand that the present figures are, happily, very small."

MacMillan May Succeed Power

OTTAWA, Dec. 12.—(CP)—The Ottawa Citizen said in a newspaper story today that Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of finance, had been named by the Conservative Party as the likely successor to Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of finance, in the event of his resignation.

The newspaper said the choice of Mr. MacMillan to succeed Mr. Howe, who resigned recently because of his opposition to conscription, was "regarded as logical."

Heaviest snowfall in the province was reported from St. Catharines, with 34 inches. In Toronto the fall was a record 21 inches from five a.m. yesterday to noon today.

Resistance Weakens on Defence Lines

By JAMES MCGILVER
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

PARIS, Dec. 12.—(BUP)—The U.S. First Army drove through seven German towns to within half a mile of Duren on the Roer today and to the southeast the Franco-American Seventh Army slashed ahead eight miles through the Moselle hills to within 15 miles of Metz.

The Rhine resistance was reported crumbling both on the east of the Cologne plain west of the Roer and in northeastern France where an American drive toward the Palatinate was shredding the last flunk on the entire western front.

Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's Seventh Army raced forward today at will in some sectors of the western northeastern tip of France, shoving the whole German line back down the Rhine valley with 15 miles northward where they were fighting this afternoon at Seitz, only six miles south of the Palatinate border.

A front dispatch quoted a "veteran" army officer as saying that between Metz and the Rhine the Germans were pulling their weight north to the front.

Must Pay Says Speaker

Canadians Urged to Fight Against Making Soft Peace With Beaten Nazi Germany

Canadians must wage a vigorous fight against all who would seduce the nation into making a soft peace with Nazi Germany, for unless there is a just and stern peace our youth will go forth to die in another great war 25 years from now, Raymond Arthur Davies, prominent Canadian journalist just returned from war-ravaged Russia, told a packed audience in Talmud Torah Hall Monday night.

Davies, who at times moved his listeners to tears of pity for the millions of innocent victims of the Nazi scourge in Russia, Poland and the Baltic States, said he is convinced that Russia has the only safe and workable plan for dealing with a defeated Germany.

Russia, that has suffered more than any other nation of the horrors of the brutal invader, is certain that the only hope of peace in Europe lies in teaching the Nazis that war does not pay and the only method by which this lesson can be taught is to make the Germans pay for their war.

LABOR CORPS URGED

Instead of 3,000,000 Germans going forth to pillage other lands after peace returns, have this huge army formed into a labor corps to rebuild all the devastated areas of Europe and be paid by the German government for their work.

"Let us convince the Canadian people that it is only just that Germany pay for this war. Ask Canadians why they should pay the cost of the struggle against the Hitlerites," Mr. Davies said.

The murderers in the Gestapo and the high officers of the German army who aided in the crimes committed by the Nazis, must be punished with all murderers being hanged, the speaker declared. After that it might be possible to re-educate the youth of Germany along democratic lines.

Despite all of the horror he had witnessed in Russia during the past year on tours through areas liberated by the victorious Red Army, he had returned from Eastern Europe with the feeling that life had "triumphed over death," Mr. Davies said.

MOUNTAINS OF CORPSES

He had seen mountains of corpses and hills of ashes where brutal Nazi troops had burned the bodies of thousands and he had toured the famed extermination camps of the Nazis at Lublin and in Estonia, he told his listeners.

The great pile of ashes behind the furnaces where bodies of victims killed by cyanide gas contained 11,000 cubic yards, formed by the remains of 400,000 human beings.

A pile of 380,000 pairs of shoes 150 feet in length by 30 feet in width six or seven feet high was called a "great lesson in shoes," by the speaker.

SHOES OF ALL TYPES

There were shoes of all types, styles and sizes from nearly every country in Europe.

Holding aloft a tiny child's shoe Davies said:

"I cannot say whether that was the shoe of a Jewish child or a Catholic child. I only know it looks like a shoe that would fit my child. There was a great unity in that pile of shoes."

The speaker also exhibited a bottle containing bluish crystals he said had been taken from the torture chambers at the Lublin camp.

He had also seen drums of carbon monoxide piped into the hermetically sealed barracks occupied by Jews from the Warsaw ghetto.

In a forest two miles from the camp 18,000 men, women and children were executed one afternoon while the Nazi bands played Strauss waltzes to drown out the sound of the firing squads.

Mr. Davies said he had been present when the Russians opened one mass grave containing 400 bodies.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"The principal isn't in... she's been out all day looking for our truant officer."

The skeleton of a young woman had the remains of an infant child grasped in her arms. The head of the baby had been smashed in but the mother had been buried alive.

SEVEN SURVIVORS

Of 144,000 once populating the Minsk ghetto only seven had survived and Mr. Davies had talked with some of the survivors, he said.

Heads of the Lublin Polish government had told Mr. Davies that out of 3,000,000 Jews in Poland at the start of the war about 250,000 escaped into Russia in 1939. Of the remaining 2,750,000 only about 30,000 are believed to be still alive, the speaker said.

Of 4,000 Jews in Lublin only 57 survived.

There are practically no Jewish children left in all of Poland," he said.

The Jews in the Red Army have performed with great heroism and there are 36 Jewish generals in the army but it is as members of the Soviet Army that the Jew is most proud, and the same goes for the Jewish factory worker. There are competitors in front line units as to who can kill the most Germans in a given time.

There is just one slogan in Russia today and that is "Kill the Fascist invader!" and only one aim: "Victory," Mr. Davies said.

Canada stands high in the affection of the Russian people.

War Passes New Milestone

LONDON, Dec. 12.—(CP)—History's bloodiest and deadliest conflict edged past a new milestone yesterday to become a year longer than the First Great War, and Germany showed few signs of such an internal collapse as brought about its defeat in 1918.

This war was five years, 14 weeks and two days old yesterday. The First Great War ended in four years, 14 weeks and two days—six hours after the armistice terms were signed in Marshal Foch's railroad carriage at 5 a.m. Nov. 11, 1918, in Compiègne.

Tendency to discount the possibility of a home-front revolt was strengthened yesterday by British Ministry of Economic Warfare reports generally showing that the average German family is better fed and better clothed now than it was in 1918.

him to succeed Col. J. J. Halston who resigned his defence portfolio because the cabinet would not accept his suggestion that home defence troops be sent overseas as reinforcements.

APPEARED IN HOUSE

During the recent session of the Commons, called because of the corruption issue, Gen. McNaughton appeared twice on the floor of the House at open sittings.

If a Progressive-Conservative candidate opposes Defence Minister McNaughton it will be the first time since the outbreak of war, apart from the general election of 1940, that official opposition and government candidates have opposed one another at the polls.

It will also be the first time a Progressive-Conservative candidate has gone to the polls under the new name of the party and its new leader, John Bracken, selected at the Winnipeg convention in December, 1942.

A report from Owen Sound stated Mr. Case is prepared to oppose the Russian people.

Our aluminum, nickel and four are rated highest of all in the Soviet Union. Good will toward Russia will be well repaid after the war, Mr. Davies said.

The speaker appealed for aid to the victims of Nazi tyranny in the liberated areas of Eastern Europe, urging his listeners to send clothing where possible as there is sufficient food to prevent starvation.

Mr. Davies answered questions for a considerable period at the conclusion of his address.

M. L. Lieberman, K.C., was chairman.

oppose Gen. McNaughton in a by-election and there has been no statement from Progressive-Conservative headquarters except that Mr. Case is the party's candidate.

Harry A. Willis, federal chairman of the Progressive Conservative party for Ontario, said in an interview at London, Ont., yesterday that the party "will most certainly contest the federal election in Grey North constituency." He said the Progressive Conservatives have a "vigorous candidate" in Mayor Case and he intended to make a real fight for that seat.

SEVERAL BY-ELECTIONS

There have been a number of by-elections in constituencies held by Liberals since 1940, notably in Humboldt, Selkirk, Morden-Carleton, Stansfeld, Welland and Charlottetown-Saguenay.

In none of these did Progressive Conservative candidate run.

There was one by-election in a seat held formally by official opposition member when Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen contested York-South. The Liberals did not run a candidate there but the CCF candidate was elected.

It takes eight or nine weeks from the time a writ is issued before a by-election can be held. If a writ for Grey North were issued this week the by-election could be held the first or second week in February.

If Gen. McNaughton were elected he could be in the House of Commons within about two weeks after the re-opening of Parliament set now for Jan. 31.

Admiral Says:

British Share in Pacific Will Be Sea, Air Support

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 12.—(CP)—Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser, commander of the new British Pacific fleet, indicated here today that Britain's contribution in the war against the Japanese in the Pacific would best be confined to sea and air support.

The Admiral who commanded the Royal Navy units that sank the German battleship Scharnhorst made his comment in reply to a question in an interview whether British soldiers would be sent to the Pacific.

He said the view in Britain was that the best contribution she could make would be a navy supported by air units since supply arrangements would become too complicated if troops were sent too.

He expressed the belief that a concentration of fleets in the Pacific would have considerable effect on shortening the war because Japan is dependent on sea power and aircraft.

JAPS MAY RETREAT

One effect of this marshalling of sea power in the Pacific probably will mean that the Japanese Navy would not seek to engage the Allied warships, but would retire and re-prepare, the Admiral said.

"But if she does retreat," Sir Bruce continued, "the Japanese will still be dependent on transport and his supply problems will become more acute. He has got to supply his army in Burma."

He asserted one of the main reasons the British fleet was in Australian waters was to make contact between the British and Australians. Another was that the Japanese fleet has retired from the Indian Ocean and therefore the British fleet must move closer to the enemy.

2 Enemy Coastal Vessels Are Sunk

ROSE, Dec. 12.—(AP)—A naval communiqué reported that the U.S. destroyer Laddow and the French patrol vessel Sabre engaged enemy coastal craft south of Antioch early Dec. 10, sinking two vessels and capturing the survivors. British destroyers were reported to have carried out a successful bombardment of enemy positions on Rab Island in the northern Adriatic the night of Dec. 9.

Mr. Logan concluded by saying that "international trade has been and must be a part of our economic life; if there is to be any real and full employment, worthy standards of living, and the prospect of a comfortable old age which all of us would so greatly like to see."

To realize such an objective, he said, "there must be a certain insight and thoughtful consideration by all of us but understanding and cooperation between our rural and our urban people, and harmonious co-operation between employers and employees. The real goal can be achieved by following the theories of radical reformers or the formation of a multiplicity of political parties from which can emerge only national and economic chaos."

Wins "Promotion" Officer Commanding Lauds Record Of Service Overseas By City Man

That their son died with courage in his heart and an overwhelming desire to see his country to the utmost was the comforting message received by Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Longhurst, 1035 18th avenue, in a letter from their son's commanding officer in Italy, Mr. Longhurst is a veteran of the Great War of 1914-18.

The son, Maj. William George Longhurst, was killed in action Oct. 21 after going up through the ranks to his majority in the Royal Edmonton Regiment. The commanding officer's letter described Major Longhurst more as a personal comrade than as a brother officer.

The officer commanding, who joined the ranks of The Royal Edmonton Regiment in September, 1939, was recruited by Major Longhurst and warm friendship was formed, broken only by Major Longhurst's death.

Below is the record of service as written by the officer commanding the regiment, the tribute seldom paid by the officer commanding a battalion:

"I met George Longhurst, on the first day Canada declared war with Germany, gave up a remunerative position with Credit Foncier, Edmonton, and enlisted as a private in the Royal Edmonton Regiment. Serving as a recruiting clerk until the battalion was fully manned, he then became company sergeant, and was probably the most efficient unit ever had."

Receives Tribute

MAJ. W. G. LONGHURST

His health gave way during the days of mud and wet on the western line north of Ortona and he was sent to hospital. After convalescence he was sent to a corps of scouts and snipers school and although he did excellent work in that capacity, he was always tired, and at last successfully in return for his courage and military skill.

He once again inspired everyone by his courage and military skill, and his death across the Saviro river in July 1943 and rendering very valuable service to the battalion, he was appointed adjutant, but still found insufficient outlet for his aggressive nature. At his own request, he was given command of "C" company during the most critical battles.

He fought his company most efficiently, but after the attack up to Ortona, his company was badly decimated and in a few days his time was spent re-mustering and training his new recruits. He was a man of great history. The battle for Ortona had been raging for six weeks and was approaching its climax, when German paratroopers, holding fanatically to their positions, were attacking the buildings which made the ad-

At the meeting of the Canadian Bankers' Association held today at the S. H. Edwards, addressed the bank, as follows:

Foreign Trade

A year ago, I made an emphasis on Canada's international trade. Canada today is not exporting in the same way as it was. Much is being sent to armed forces in every theatre of war, but we are not exporting to the same extent. It has been increased far beyond the present needs of our own people. I am sure that our war reconstruction we must bear

They should be wisely understood, for, as a result of the war, we have to depend the solution of the problem of these external obligations. It is a very important factor in the country but of the creditor nations themselves and the whole world.

These are courageous words, although they stress the importance of the war reconstruction

The General Manager recommended that governments as soon possible should be encouraged on ways whereby they may best reduce obstacles to international trade and commerce, mutually advantageous international trade and commerce, so that the orderly marketing of goods and services may prove to be a valuable asset to the producer and consumer alike.

The conference thus appeared to have been a success, and not a matter of monetary mechanism, but a matter of direction and policies in other directions.

GENERAL MANAGER ADDRESSES MEETING

The General Manager reviewed the progress of the Bank since the meeting added, in part, that the Bank had received 12,500,000, 95 per cent of which was held by individuals. Every effort was being made to increase the share of the Bank, particularly in the case of the Bank's lending facilities, which the Bank had responded to.

I should like to re-emphasize the fact that the Bank has responded to

On the other hand, in addition to primary products, she has begun to produce such things as textiles, chemicals, manufactured articles, utilities and appliances heretofore imported. The government believes that this must have its effect in a most substantial way upon what Canada has long been known for—her ability to supply the necessities of many new employees who have been trained in Canada. At the outbreak of war the number of women employed in the manufacturing and service staffs. At the present time it is 10 per cent, and in many branches it is 25 per cent. Business Conditions

One of the most significant able to farmers for the old contraband peace, have ever since prospered and to its greatness. In that respect the City of London must be a major part. I do not need to tell you that her position in world affairs must be unique—and I would ask you to note, I say it's not "was." And that she has been the center of the stocks of gold or foreign investments and industrial equipment of the world. New warehouses, factories and alterations to existing ones undertaken during the war cost more than $700,000,000 of over $70,000,000 amount for industrial projects. The city was as large as in 1943. This the projects include many

Taxation

With the policy of inflation, excess profits

in London in providing financial aid to the vast manufacturing output country and the unsurpassed technical skill of our people may be given full scope.

Our problem, therefore, will be to export in sufficient volume to enable us to pay for our current essential imports of raw materials to satisfy all requirements, but there was an overall increase in industrial activity of about 20 per cent in domestic trade and of about 40,000 people in civilian occupations.

Industry, trade and employment were aided by the best agricultural conditions ever ex-

The expansion which has followed, and, of course, additional employment, has been a welcome by-product of the business enterprises carrying on peace-time production for the benefit of the individual businesses, the community and the nation. It is a fact that the business enterprise, in carrying on its normal operations, has been able to contribute towards the gradual and orderly liquidation of our external oil problem. But there is indeed a serious thought, that it is not our duty to the community to neglect the credit concerns, just as much, it is a world problem. For the time being, however, which we can import world products, we are dependent upon that gradual and orderly liquidation of our oil problem. It is a fact that we have spoken. Obviously, in the early years, too large a proportion of our production was for farm purchasing power in a time of depression. The crop output was not altogether the result of a favorable growing season. The output of live stock products was not strenuous effort on the part of the farmer. The output of the various products was not strenuous this effort was not evidenced by the fact that a total of 100 million bushels of wheat was sold the pre-war average achieved with an agricultural

The Government estimated that there will be a deviation of the present policy which will be an asset to new businesses that much less with which we can buy the current exports of creditor countries, and the rest of the world. And that is serious for all, for we are a very important market. In fact, we are, and are likely to continue to be, the only market in the Caribbean employed in every phase of this process. Our annual output of goods and services and at the present time our figures will indicate, is in an excellent position to co-operate in serving the future credit needs of the Dominions.
